GDP grows at 6.7 per cent in 2008-09

The revised estimates released by the CSO estimate GDP growth in 2008-09 to be at 6.7 per cent, with the fourth quarter growth at a higher-than-expected 5.8 per cent. In addition, the third quarter growth was also revised upward by 50 basis points to 5.8 per cent. At the sectoral level, the industry grew at a dismal 1.4 per cent, while services clocked a respectable 8.6 per cent in the last quarter of 2008-09. Services growth was aided by massive increase in government expenditure which grew at 21.5 per cent in the fourth quarter. As expected, internal trade activity contracted in line with global trade.

Industry grows 2.4 per cent in 2008-09

Overall industrial activity shrunk by 2.3 per cent in March 2009, while manufacturing output declined by 2.3 per cent. Consequently, growth in 2008-09 stood at just 2.4 per cent as compared to 8.5 per cent during 2007-08. While capital goods registered growth of 7.0 per cent in 2008-09, the intermediate goods sector contracted by 2.8 per cent.

International trade continues to contract

In the first month of 2009-10, while merchandise exports dropped by 33.2 per cent, import growth declined even more sharply, falling by 36.6 per cent. As a result, as compared with April 2008, trade deficit was lower by 42 per cent at US$ 3.4 billion. Even as the economic environment starts stabilising in the next few months, the continuing uncertainty and high-base effect will put pressure on export-import growth in the current fiscal.

Inflation at a record low in April 2009

In April 2009, WPI inflation fell to a record low of 0.6 per cent. The headline inflation, however, did not touch zero as previously expected, since inflation in primary commodities surged. Manufacturing prices rose by around 1 per cent y-o-y in April. In contrast the CPI inflation rose in April to 8.7 per cent from 8 per cent a month earlier.

Money supply growth crosses 20 per cent

While money supply growth in April 2009 crossed the 20-per cent mark for the first time since October 2008, credit growth for the fortnight ended May 08, 2009, stood at mere 17.2 per cent y-o-y. Despite adequate liquidity in the system, credit growth has remained muted due to lower demand for credit and risk-averse behavior of the banks.

Rupee recovers considerably in May

The currency appreciated from the average of Rs 50.1 per US$ in April to Rs 48.5 in May amidst increased inflows of foreign investment. The appreciation was sharper in the second half of the month when the currency gained significantly from Rs 49.6 on May 15 to Rs 47.3 per US$ on May 29, the last working day of the month. The upward momentum in the exchange rate could be sustained if foreign inflows continue to pick up.

Money markets remain volatile in May

The benchmark 10-year government paper traded in the range of 6.2-6.7 per cent in May. The yield increased towards the end of the month to a 6-week high of 6.7 per cent as the government increased the size of borrowing requirements from Rs 120 billion to Rs 150 billion in each of the two auctions scheduled to be held during May 15-29. In line with government bond yields, corporate bond yields also firmed up towards the month-end.

Tentative signs of global stability in forward-looking indicators

The revised figures suggest that the US economy shrunk by 5.7 per cent (q-o-q annualised) as against the earlier estimate of 6.1 per cent in the first quarter of 2009. During the same period, the Euro and Japanese economies contracted by 10.0 and 16.1 per cent, respectively. Among the forward-looking indicators, however, the initial signs of recovery are evident with the US Michigan consumer sentiment index rising to its highest level since the Lehman-bankruptcy pushed the economy into recession in October last year. Similarly, the UK and the Japanese consumer confidence indices also rose in April 2009

Economic Outlook

Parameter	Macroeconomic Indicators - Forecasts 2008-09	Rationale
Growth	Agriculture 3.5 Industry 4.2 Services 8.1 Total 6.0-6.5	In the view of the better than expected GDP growth in Q4FY9 and the return of political stability which should make it easier for the government to push through further fiscal stimulus and reforms the GDP forecast has been revised upwards. Among the sectors industrial growth is expected to remain weak due to demand slowdown, both domestic and global. Services growth is expected to moderate sharply, although it would continue to be the main driver of growth.
Inflation	WPI-Average 1.0-1.5	The inflation would continue to remain muted in the first half of 2009-10 as commodity prices, especially oil expected to remain at a relatively low level due to global slowdown as well as a favourable base effect. In the latter half of the year, inflation should start picking up as demand recovers.
Interest rate	10-year G-Sec (Year-end) 6.0-6.2	The steady infusion of liquidity and further loosening of the monetary policy by the RBI as well as a decline in credit demand by the private sector as a result of growth slowdown would bring interest rates at a moderate level. Additionally, RBI's measures to counteract the government borrowing requirement, would keep the upside capped. Overall, our interest rate forecast is consistent with our GDP growth forecast.
Exchange rate	Re / US $ (Year-end) 47.0-47.5	With some normalization in the pattern of capital flows next year, the rupee should move back towards its fundamental trend, which is to appreciate. The demand for dollars should remain subdued with oil and other imports expected to slowdown. With exports declining, the supply of dollars would come from capital inflow. However, the margin of error for the forecast remains high in view of the continued global financial instability.
Fiscal deficit (Incl off-budget liabilities)	as a % of GDP 6.0	With further fiscal stimulus expected after the national elections and the implementation of the remaining part of the sixth pay commission salary hikes the pressure on the fiscal deficit would remain although oil, food and fertiliser subsidies and off budget liabilities are expected to decline next year. Tax revenue would suffer as economic activity slows down sharply next year with the average inflation below 4 per cent level.

Update on Industry

Healthy capital structures help print media players mitigate profitability pressure

Print media players have been facing severe profitability pressures since the second half of 2008-09 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31). This pressure arises from shrinking advertisement revenues, at a time when many players have built up large and expensive newsprint inventory. However, the effect of this pressure on credit risk profiles of CRISIL-rated print media companies (newspaper and magazine publishers) is mitigated by their healthy capital structures and established market positions; most entities have curtailed planned capital expenditure (capex), enhancing their liquidity and protecting their balance sheets.

Over the past few years, especially in the period from 2002 to mid-2008, print media companies reported strong revenue growth. Since October 2008, however, the operating environment has become adverse; in particular, advertisement revenues have reduced in the ongoing economic slowdown. CRISIL expects advertisement revenues to remain under pressure over the medium term because of the continuing economic downturn.

The recent decline in newsprint prices will, nevertheless, mitigate the effect of weaker advertising revenues. Says Mr. Pawan Agrawal, Director - Ratings, CRISIL, "We estimate the operating margins of CRISIL-rated print media entities at around 15 per cent in 2008-09, down from 27 per cent in the previous year. Now, with newsprint prices falling by about 40 per cent since early 2009, players' operating profitability will improve to some extent. However, the easing of operating margin pressures will be delayed for players who have built up large high-cost newsprint inventories."

Most CRISIL-rated print media players have strong market positions, and healthy financial risk profiles marked by low gearing levels and strong financial flexibility. Further, these players have implemented initiatives such as increasing the advertisement-to-edit ratio (the space allocated in a publication for advertisements as a percentage of total space in the publication), increasing employee productivity, and reducing costs wherever possible. Players have also rolled back aggressive capex plans, including modernisation of facilities and expansion into smaller towns and cities. These measures have helped them counter margin pressures, and keep their borrowing levels in check. Thus, the overall credit risk profiles of CRISIL-rated print media companies have not been affected so far.

However, the risk remains that the downturn in the economy can affect the advertisement revenues and profitability of some print media companies more than is currently expected. According to Mr. Sudip Sural, Head - Ratings, CRISIL "A longer downturn in the economy, and delayed recovery in advertisement revenue growth, can increase the pressure on the earnings and cash flows of some print media companies. This can, in turn, strain their debt protection measures." Reflecting these risks, CRISIL has revised the rating outlooks on three print media companies to 'Negative' from 'Stable', in 2008-09.

Management Speak

'Rating helps set an SME apart from others'

Small and medium enterprises (SME) of India, for years, had been the 'common man' of business fraternity. Though often referred as the most important part of the economic fabric of the country, SMEs say, hardly anything concrete was done for its growth.

However, of late, efforts have been made to bring about a change in their way of working of SMEs through implementation of services like rating of the enterprises, easy loans, information technology and a host of schemes of the government. But, the awareness level is still an issue.

In conversation with DNA, Yogesh Dixit, Head - SME Ratings, CRISIL spoke about funding, competitiveness, costs, quality and other issues pertaining to the sector. Excerpts:

What is happening in the SME sector?

Yogesh Dixit: The post-election scenario is very positive, though not much fundamental change has taken place at the ground level. Exports are still very tough for SMEs, the demand issues that were there in the system continue. But a lot of optimism has come into the system and there is promise on the infrastructure front. For manufacturing --- which is the life and blood of small-scale industries and SMEs in India --- to happen, infrastructure improvement is crucial. Plus, initiatives from State Bank and others such as loans at 8% interest for SMEs give big support. Easing liquidity has brought some respite, too. Now, we have to see how the demand improves.

The point is that the country is huge. Historically, in India, 2,000 companies may have been rated in the last 20 years, but after SME ratings started about 10,000-15,000 enterprises have been rated and this is a big number. So, things are moving ahead.

Is the negative economic sentiment keeping SMEs back from ratings for the time being?

Yogesh Dixit: In such cases if credit is not given to the SME, then the branch manager should be approached. Secondly, if you have rating and your rating is high, you can always contest if you are charged a very high rate of interest. Or else you can go to other banks as well. A rating helps in setting an enterprise apart from others, and pulls it out of the shadow of the entire SME sector which is perceived as not very efficient.

What initiatives can be taken to spread new concepts among SMEs?

Yogesh Dixit: I would say the government has a huge network across the country, and it should make use of this to spread the word about the importance of rating and implementing Information Technology among SMEs.

What would be your advice to a budding entrepreneur heading an SME?

Yogesh Dixit: I would say that try to inculcate a culture of entrepreneurship, because through large government and private enterprises you can create limited employment. SMEs play a major role in generating employment. There are people who have not done academically very well but are very successful entrepreneurs. Therefore, entrepreneurship is the way ahead.

Banking Sector Update

Indian Securitisation Market Review 2008-09

The Indian securitisation market declined in terms of volumes in 2008-09 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31) over the previous year largely because of domestic factors such as market volatility, tight liquidity, redemption pressure faced by mutual funds, and decline in fixed maturity funds, even as turmoil in the global structured finance market affected investor sentiment. It shrunk by over 25 per cent, to Rs.523 billion, in 2008-09 after having crossed Rs.700 billion in 2007-08. The year began on a positive note, with the first quarter registering an increase of over 100 per cent in issuance volumes over the corresponding period of the previous year. However, the market lost momentum and witnessed a sharp decline in volumes in the second half of the year *(refer chart 1). In fact, at Rs.40 billion, the third quarter volumes are the lowest for this quarter in the past five years. Notably, though issuance volumes declined in 2008-09 over the previous year, they continue to be well above the volumes registered between 2004-05 and 2006-07 *(refer chart 2), owing to the strong activity registered in the first half of the year.

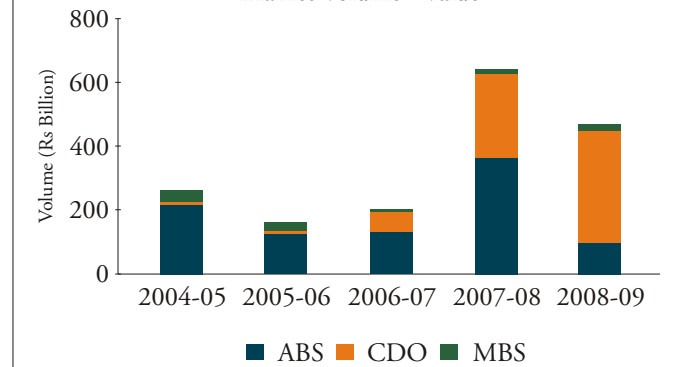

While the securitisation market continued to remain concentrated in terms of originators, it witnessed the introduction of a new asset class microfinance loan receivables during the year. For retail financiers, especially NBFCs, securitisation has remained an important source of funding over the past few years; typically 25 to 50 per cent of the total portfolio of some of the large retail financiers is funded by securitisation transactions. CRISIL believes that stabilisation of the credit market, lower interest rates, and continued robust performance of rated transactions should provide an impetus to ABS issuances by the second half of 2009-10.

CRISIL believes that while the outlook for the SLSD (single loan sell-down) market will depend on the final RBI guidelines regarding minimum seasoning and retention criteria, issuance volumes are likely to remain subdued compared to 2008-09. On the other hand, rising portfolio of rated bank loans will offer opportunities for multi-asset CDO transactions over the long term. While the current investor sentiment towards complex products will hinder the CDO market, this product will offer significant advantages to originators and investors and result in overall improvement in efficiency of credit markets over the long term.
